Mr. Aydt was previously in charge of Product Definition & Eco Mobile Systems and Business Development at FF. Prior to joining FF, Mr. Aydt spent a number of years abroad in China and Germany with automotive companies and OEM suppliers, leading teams within Project Management and Vehicle Engineering. Mr. Aydt has over 15 registered patents.

Xiaoyang Ning, who currently leads the strategic partner relationship at FF, will assume the business development responsibilities previously held by Mr. Aydt, as acting head of Business Development. Additionally, Xiao Ma becomes acting head of Production Definition and Eco Mobile Systems at FF. Mr. Ma previously served as deputy head of Product & Mobility Ecosystem and Corporate Operations.

"The FF 91 Futurist is expected to start production soon and the experience that these dedicated leaders bring to FF will help further strengthen the company, as well as accelerate the next stage of funding activities and assist the company in delivering the FF 91 Futurist in a timely manner and with high quality," said Xuefeng ("XF") Chen, Global Chief Executive Officer of FF. "These leadership changes ensure that all of FF's core departments retain experienced and competent leadership moving forward and bolster FF's future."

FF recently announced that it completed manufacturing milestone #6, the completion of construction and equipment installation in vehicle assembly areas. The company also continues to make progress with testing and validation of the FF 91 Futurist. Recent performance metrics including range, 0-60 acceleration and braking have exceeded expectations.

In addition, FF will host a virtual Global Investor Business Update Meeting on December 15, 2022, to announce the company's global business transformation plan which includes a vehicle delivery plan for FF 91 Futurist.
